• The second Asian Productivity Organization Symposium on Transfer of Technology will be held in New Delhi, February 6–10, 1978. The meeting will focus on the role of the APO and National Productivity Organizations in member countries in developing some institutional framework for intra–national transfer of technology towards the improvement of productivity. Also, there are several new titles issued in the APO Monograph Series—Transfer of Technology: Some Dimensions. For further details write to the APO, 4–14. Akasaka, 8–chome, Minato–ku, Tokyo 107, Japan.

• Two reports are available in the United Nations Industrial Development Organization's series on the development and transfer of technology. National Approaches to the Acquisition of Technology, No. 1, (ID/187) presents several case histories of government policy in handling technology transfer. UNIDO Abstracts on Technology Transfer (1970–1976) is a compilation of UNIDO documents taken from the "Industrial Development Abstracts" series that have appeared since 1970. Both documents are available in English only from the Editor, UNIDO Newsletter, UNIDO, P.O. Box 707, A-1011 Vienna, Austria.

• "An International Dialogue on Technology Transfer" reports on the Sixth European Management Symposium which focused on three areas of the technology transfer question: cost of transfer; conflicts in objectives and policies between multinational companies and developing countries; and technology ownership questions. The Dialogue is found in Worldtech Report No. 3 from the European Management Forum, Box O, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55440, USA.

• Transfer of Technology: The Future of Regulation is the title of a nine–monograph series resulting from a Council of the Americas/Fund for Multinational Management Education conference on transfer of technology. The series are $10 or $1.50 per monograph. For information on titles, write to the Fund for Multinational Management Education, 684 Park Avenue, New York, New York 10021, USA.

• Recent articles on transfer of technology include: "Fundamental Concepts of the Transfer of Technology to the Developing Countries," by Karl W. Menck, Economics, Vol. 15, 1977; "Strategies for Self–immolation—The Third World and the Transfer of Advanced Technologies," by Robert S. Fortner, Inter-American Economic Affairs, Vol. XXXI, No. 1, Summer 1977; and "The Technology that Came from Abroad," by Patrick Vandenberghe, Ceres, January-February 1977.
